NOON REPORTS.

The Republican Convention.

CHICAGO, June 2.—This morning twenty-three of the Pennsylvania delegates signed and published a manifesto saying: That they believe the sentiment of their State is against the nomination of Grant, and they pledge themselves to vote against it.

The protesting New York delegates are being bulled by telegrams endorsing their course. If Grant is not nominated on the first or second ballots his votes will go to Edmunds, who the Grant men say can't be beaten if backed by them. Senator Bruce will be pressed for the Vice-Presidency as a representative of colored men. The Grant men are confident of a nomination for their man on the first ballot. A Grant caucus last night was attended by three hundred delegates and lasted until midnight.

The Convention was called to order at 1 o'clock by Senator Cameron. Proceedings were opened with prayer by Rev. Dr. Kittridge of Chicago.

At the request of Mr. Cameron, Secretary Keogh read the call for this Convention. Mr. Cameron briefly addressed the Convention, referring to the bitterness which had attended the preliminary canvass, which he hoped would now disappear in air, and a determination to put in nomination for President the strongest candidate, and one who would command the respect of the civilized world. He counselled harmonious and united action. In conclusion, he announced that he had been instructed by the National Committee to put in nomination for temporary chairman Hon. Geo. F. Hoar, of Massachusetts. [Applause.] The nomination was unanimously ratified, and Messrs. Davis of Texas, Frye of Maine, and Raum of Illinois, were appointed a committee to conduct him to the chair.

Mr. Hoar, on taking the platform, addressed the convention at some length. He said the function of the convention, if wisely used, was that of naming a man whom the people would make President. His reference to the nomination of Lincoln twenty years ago was greeted with applause. Lincoln had gone to rest, but his associate on the ticket (Hamlin) was here to-day in full vigor, still discharging actively his duty to the country and the party. (Applause.) He reviewed briefly the history of the late war and its political incidents and consequences, and criticised the policy of the Democratic party in that connection. That party, he claimed, was to-day actuated by the old rebel spirit, and North, South, East and West it was the party of fraud, oppression and the overriding of justice; for in Maine it ambitiously sought to pilfer the whole State, (applause); while the Republican party on the other hand tells us of rebellion subdued, of slaves enfranchised, of sound currency restored, of our flag floating everywhere honored and respected. In conclusion Mr. Hoar said he would discharge his duties as chairman fairly and without respect to persons.

The following were appointed temporary Secretaries: John H. Roberts, Illinois; C. L. Magie, Pennsylvania; also, Chas. W. Clisby, Alabama, and J. C. Broadwell, of Missouri as Reading Clerks; Eugene Davis, of New York, official Stenographer.

Mr. Hale, of Maine, to expedite business, moved a resolution that the roll of States and Territories be called and the chairman of each delegation shall name its members of the committees in the following order: On permanent organization, on rules and order of business, on credentials. Adopted without objection. The roll was accordingly called and the committees named.

Ohio's presentation of James A. Garfield as one of the committeemen was greeted with considerable applause.

Utah being excluded in the roll of States and Territories, Mr. Frye asked that it be included.

Mr. Conkling, of New York, rising, was received with applause, and said there was objection, holding as he did, that the order of the Convention had been executed as prepared by the National Committee. There was a contest in Utah as in Louisiana, and so they were omitted. The Chair ruled that as the committee's roll had been called the motion to add any State or Territory was in order.

Mr. Frye said it was agreed by the committee that Utah should be put upon that roll (great applause), and that the Secretary of the National Committee says Utah's omission was made by mistake. (Wild applause.)

Mr. Conkling said if this had been a mistake it should be corrected. The only special significance of this colloquial incident was the enthusiastic applause which greeted Mr. Frye from both galleries.

Mr. McCormick, of Arizona, moved to call the roll of States and Territories for the presentation of credentials and for notice of contests, and that all such papers be referred without statement or debate to the Committee on Credentials. Adopted.

On the call of the roll Alabama and Arkansas gave notice of contest. Mr. Henderson, of Iowa, gave notice of contest in ten districts of Illinois (applause in the galleries.) Mr. Warmouth notified a contest in Louisiana. Contests were also notified in Pennsylvania and Utah, the latter by Mr. Conkling, of New York, by request.

Congressional.

WASHINGTON, June 2.—SENATE.—The Senate postponed all former orders and resumed the consideration of the river and harbor bill.

HOUSE.—The morning hour was dispensed with and the House went into Committee of the Whole on the general deficiency bill.

The Indian War.

DENVER, COL., June 2.—A dispatch from General Pope says that the White River Utes are at Los Pinos Agency and not in the North Park, and Ouray denies that any of his young men are on the war path.

MIDNIGHT REPORTS.

Congressional Proceedings.

WASHINGTON, June 2.—SENATE.—All amendments to the river and harbor bill, other than those reported by the committee, were rejected, and the bill passed by a vote of 36 to 13. A communication from the Secretary of the Treasury, asking for an appropriation of $150 000 for lighting the Mississippi, Missouri and Ohio rivers and one from the Secretary of War recommending an appropriation of $400,000 to continue payments to land grant railroads were referred, and the Senate adjourned.

HOUSE.—Amendments were made to the deficiency appropriation bill appropriating $20,000 to provide vaults for the storage of gold and silver bullion and coin, $30,000 for preparing maps of the geological survey, $7,500 for detecting violators of revenue laws, $185,000 to pay judgments of the court of claims and $1,000 for the relief of the families of surfmen who perished while acting under orders. The committee then rose and reported the bill, the main question was ordered and the House adjourned.

The Republican Convention.

CHICAGO, June 1.—Mr. Logan moved that instructions be given to the Committee on Tickets of Admission to issue 500 tickets daily to the veteran association. That justice had been done to the veterans by every other National Republican Convention, and why should it not be done now and here? (Applause.) There were veteran soldiers supporting each of the Presidential candidates, so that there was no particular motive in his motion. He himself had to enter the building this morning without a ticket because he could not get one from the National Committee. He was here and he wanted to see the veterans also admitted, not to make a noise or to cheer for any man, but to look upon the convention which had to nominate a man for whom they would have to vote. (Loud cheers.)

Mr. Kilpatrick, of New Jersey, seconded the resolution with all his heart. Adopted.

Mr. Conkling moved that as some of the committees already appointed could not report in time for the evening session to-night, the convention take a recess until to-morrow morning at 11 o'clock.

Mr. Hale concurred in the uselessness of an evening session and in Mr. Conkling's motion, which was adopted; so a recess was taken at 3 p. m. until 11 o'clock to-morrow morning.

Bad for Grant.

CHICAGO, June 2.—The Committee on Credentials organized and adjourned until 5 p. m. The Grant men moved that B. F. Tracy, of New York, be made chairman.

Mr. Chandler, of Maine, moved to substitute the name of Mr. Conger, of Michigan, which was agreed to by 29 to 11.

Mr. Fessenden, of Massachusetts was appointed Secretary. The committee anticipate a stormy all night session.

The committee on rules and order of business, organized with James A. Garfield as chairman and Thomas W. Chase, of Rhode Island, Secretary, after a subordinate committee consisting of the Chairman, L. Lewellyn Powers, of Maine, Robert M. Morse, Jr., of Massachusetts, E. F. Drake, of Minnesota, H. C. Carter, of Mississippi, General Geo. H. Sharpe, of New York, A. J. Turner, of Wisconsin, had been appointed to draft rules and regulations to be submitted to the Committee to-morrow at 9 o'clock. The committee adjourned until that time.

The committee on Resolutions organized with Edwards Pierrepont, of New York, as chairman, and F. D. Edwards, of Nevada, secretary.

After hearing the delegates from the National Women's Suffrage Convention in favor of a resolution in the National platform favoring woman's suffrage, the committee took a recess until evening.

Alabama Democrats.

MONTGOMERY, June 2.—The Democratic State Convention met here to-day. So far the business transacted is the re-nomination, by acclamation, of R. W. Cobb for Governor, with W. S. Crews for Secretary of State, H. C. Tompkins for Attorney-General, and J. H. Vincent for Treasurer.

Confirmation.

WASHINGTON, June 2.—The Senate to-day confirmed the nomination of Horace Maynard, of Tennessee, to be Postmaster-General, vice David M. Key.

Dividend Declared.

SAVANNAH, GA., June 3.—The Georgia Central Railroad to-day declared a semi-annual dividend of 3 per cent.

WATSON'S NEW SERIES.

The lower numbers of this reading series are remarkable for the "word-building system," the high order of the illustrations, and the interesting but strictly progressive character of the reading lessons. The higher volumes challenge comparison on account of their elocutionary treatises and the noble range of selection from standard literature.

THE DAILY NEWS.

RALEIGH, N. C.

THURSDAY.....JUNE 3, 1880.

THE DUTY OF DEMOCRATS.

In Georgia, as well as in Kentucky and North Carolina, the Democrats are warmly disputing about candidates for nomination. And in Georgia, the Macon Messenger, as the Courier-Journal in Kentucky, and THE NEWS here, warns our friends of the dangers of the canvass that is going on in the party newspapers. These there as here urge the claims of their favorites, and urge them with warmth. This is all right, but one thing they should not lose sight of. All the candidates are Democrats, and each has his personal following of good and true men. The discussion at present turns simply upon the claims and qualifications of the several aspirants, and there is no manner of necessity while upholding the cause of any one of them that words of disparagement should be uttered against rival candidates. Let it be remembered that but one man can be chosen for Governor, or Representative in Congress, or to fill a vacancy in the United States Senate. The other candidates, with their adherents, must fall into line again and do battle valiantly for the nominee, or the victory will be lost. Hence, in the primary elections, and during the preliminary canvass inside of the party, the importance of abstaining from all personalities and vituperation in discussing the character and qualifications of the various Democrats whose friends seek their preferment. To pursue any other course is to engender heartburnings and strife within the camp, which may lead to lukewarmness and defections at the ballot box.

We cannot impress this matter too importunately and strongly upon the Democracy of the State. Our political salvation depends upon harmony and concert of action among the leaders, and rank and file also, of the opponents of radicalism, and unnecessary acerbities and feuds should be sedulously avoided. Let all conduct the friendly preliminary contest for the nomination of standard bearers, resolved that everything shall be conducted with the strictest fairness and determined to support the nominees even though not personal favorites.

This newspaper practices what it preaches. Its readers know that in our opinion Governor JARVIS is the strongest man in the State, and that in the most trying times of canvass and of administration he has proved his fitness to speak to the people and to manage their affairs. But we never forget that there may be other men in the Democratic party fit for this year's work, and that it may seem good to the Democratic party to select one of them when it meets in Convention. Making no concealment of our own views of the party's policy, we may yet defy the most captious to find any expression of our own or our correspondents calculated to weaken any Democratic interest in the coming campaign, or to impair our own usefulness in the great battle before us. With this record, we look to the Party Convention for its orders. With no ulterior ends in view, seeking no office, bowing for no plunder, receiving no favors and but the ordinary newspaper courtesies from people in office, and expecting no more from their successors, we have fought a good fight for North Carolina, and will fight it to the end. The success of the Democratic party, which is the only safety of the State, is what we have sought in the past years of labor, what we expect to seek in the future, and the Nominee of the Convention will receive our earliest and most cheerful support. So long as it subordinates men to principles, the Democratic party will be invincible, and Democrats must all learn as we have learned to regard men only so far as one or another may more certainly win Democratic success. The Democratic party will name no unworthy man for its standard-bearer, even should it, as we have no fear, the one not now talked of, whose apparent methods we abhor and whose seeming character we detest, we should but conclude that we, not it, had erred in judgment.

CHICAGO.

The telegrams tell all that we know about the Convention at Chicago, which adjourned last evening at 3 o'clock to meet this morning at 11 o'clock. The indications for Gen. GRANT's nomination do not look so fair as they did nor as we could wish. The Herald and Times, of New York, which are probably more fully informed than outsiders generally, both indicate his defeat. The Herald by changing its policy once more to bitter hostility, and the Times by a very plain statement of its belief that Senator EDMUNDS would make a better President, and its hope that, if GRANT failing to win, EDMUNDS may be nominee.

General GRANT is beaten it will be the result of treachery; that is to say, of disobedience of instructions. Whatever one may think of instructions, and we have no love for being an instructed delegate, it is what Senator CARPENTER says, a sound maxim to which there is no exception that the agent should obey and execute the orders of his principal. Of course, if any one is not willing to do what his principal requests of him he may decline the office; but we do not comprehend how a man can accept such service or become a candidate under instructions without obeying the instructions.

COLLECTING STATE DEBTS.

A law was passed by the Legislature of New York at its late session, and signed by the Governor, to empower the State, acting as trustee, to accept the transfer of delinquent or repudiated bonds of other States from her own citizens owning them, and to bring suit in its own name, according to the forms prescribed by the constitution, for the recovery of the defaulted debt. The interest of New York in this law is very great, her citizens holding claims against defaulting States, including overdue and unpaid interest, to the amount of $200,000,000. It is understood that suits will soon be brought in the Supreme Court of the United States, in accordance with this law, on delinquent bonds of North Carolina, Minnesota and Virginia.

This new law, says the Baltimore Sun, has a curious history. "It was first suggested by Mr. JOHN F. HUME, formerly editor of the Missouri Democrat, but the hint was finally put in shape by General BRADLEY T. JOHNSON, of this city, in an article contributed by him to the Boston Law Journal. A bill was drawn up in conformity to it and passed the New York Legislature in 1878, but Governor ROBINSON vetoed it. Last Summer Mr. HUME took the same bill to New Hampshire and secured its passage by the Legislature of that State. But as this statute was thought to be in some measure inadequate, and as the citizens of New York were most largely interested, it was thought expedient to have another bill, and the law as it now stands was prepared by Mr. R. S. RANSOM, a New York lawyer, and passed as has been related."

In matters very little by what States suits may be brought, or by what courts judgments may be rendered against defaulting States. The State against which judgment is rendered may still refuse to pay, and the courts cannot compel it to do so. That is to say, the courts cannot compel legislators to levy taxes; and it is very safe to say that no Legislature of North Carolina will ever, without compulsion, levy a tax to pay the defaulted Special Tax Bonds.

GOVERNOR ROBINSON.

We are authorized to state that Hon. JAMES L. ROBINSON is not a candidate for State Auditor; nor has he directly or indirectly authorized such an impression, which has existence in some quarters. Governor ROBINSON, indeed, is not seeking a nomination for any office, though there may be reasons which would impel him not to decline a nomination for that place on the State ticket, which has been designated for him by friends and county meetings in various sections of the State. Gov. ROBINSON is a true man, and a true Democrat, and will serve his party and State faithfully and ably, hereafter as heretofore, in whatever position may be assigned him. He is no fair-weather Democrat, but one of that bold and true minority which withstood the reckless and extravagant administration of affairs in the dark days of 1868-'69, and rendered possible the Democratic successes of 1870 and the great victory of 1876.

SHEEP RAISING.

Mr. FRANCIS FONTAINE gives to the New York Commercial Bulletin some facts and figures about sheep husbandry in Georgia, viz: The price of wool in Georgia is forty cents a pound. The average annual cost of keeping sheep is only 54 cents. The average cost of raising a pound of wool in Georgia is only 6 cents, while the average price for which the unwashed wool is sold is 33½ cents, or 27½ cents net. The average yield of unwashed wool to the sheep is 3.44 pounds, which, at 27½ cents net, gives an average clear income in wool from each sheep of 94 cents. The average price received for lambs sold to the butcher in Georgia is $1.87. The average price of stock sheep is $2.58 per head. The average price of mutton is $2.75 per head. The average profit annually received from money invested in sheep in Georgia, despite the ravages of dogs, is 63 per cent. The next Legislature will probably enact a dog law to protect sheep. An owner of 3,500 sheep in Georgia declares that his sheep cost him annually 14 cents per head, and that his clear profit is 90 per cent. on the money so invested. No food or shelter is required at any time during the year.

OLD ROBESON SPEAKS:

Robeson County, May 29, 1880.—Robeson county has claims on the State that cannot be ignored; you all remember the cry of "hold Robeson and save the State," and but for Robeson, the convention would never have been held, and the Republican party would probably now be in power. Robeson is nearly 100 years old, and in that time has never asked anything at the hands of the State. She now asks for Auditorship and respectfully suggests the name of D. P. McEachern, Senator from Robeson and Columbus, for that position. MANY CITIZENS.

GRANVILLE CROPS AND POLITICS:—

Wilton, June 1, 1880—The drought continues in Granville and Franklin, and the farmers are getting low spirited, but their interest for their favorite gubernatorial candidate, Judge D. G. Fowle, increases.

The good man says: "All things are for the best," and mentally adds, "I am the best."

"Mamma, can't we have anything we want?" "Yes, my dears; but be careful and don't want anything you can't have."

NEW YORK CORRESPONDENCE.

[Correspondence of THE RALEIGH NEWS.]

NEW YORK, May 31, 1880.

EDITOR NEWS:—At my boarding-house the hour before breakfast is generally devoted by a few to the reading of the morning papers in the parlor. I am the only one in the house who takes a Democratic paper—the ladies preferring to be misled by the Times, the Tribune and the Herald. There was an exclamation among these ladies yesterday morning of dissatisfaction over the finding of the West Point court of inquiry in the Whittaker case. "Shameful!" cried one; "He had no trial," said another; "He would have been acquitted if he had been a rich man's son," said a third. Of course it was of no use to controvert these notions; for I could not hope to overcome opinions founded upon feeling and prejudice, and not upon reason and fact. I might have told them that the assigned prosecutor in the case, Lieut. Sears, stated that he was "a Republican and an original Abolitionist," and that he was obliged by the evidence to find Whittaker guilty; that not only was such a prosecutor assigned, (in the expectation, doubtless, that he would screen Whittaker,) but that the Administration at Washington sent on an eminent lawyer from Albany to assist the lawyers employed by Whittaker or his friends; that this eminent lawyer at first entered with zeal into the defence, but in two or three weeks abandoned the case; that Whittaker had manifestly committed perjury in his statements, his testimony being flatly contradicted by his own written letters and journal; that seven weeks were devoted to the inquiry, more than 300 witnesses examined, and not a particle of evidence produced to throw a shade of suspicion upon any one but Whittaker; that the court, composed of distinguished military officers, was unanimous in its verdict against him, well knowing that they would thereby array against themselves the ill will not only of the masses here but of the Administration at Washington;—I might have urged all this and more, but to what good? Of all fanaticism, I think that the fanaticism of the Northern abolition females is the strongest, the most unreasoning, the most "Uncle Tommish," and so I never waste breath in attempting to dislodge it from their minds. We will see what the President and Secretary of War will do in the matter—discharge Whittaker, perhaps, and put the court under arrest, a course which would delight many here.

The trial of my Southern feelings on yesterday did not end with this ante-breakfast experience. At church I found in the pew an appeal to the congregation to give to the mission house such old books as could be spared, such as Robinson Crusoe, Arabian Nights, Scott's Rob Roy, and Ivanhoe, &c., &c., winding up with Uncle Tom's Cabin! And the Rev. Dr. enforced his appeal by stating that some of the books named were not, indeed, religious books, but they were such as might be read with profit, and if the class who resorted to the mission house did not read such as these they would read bad books. Now if they read anything worse than Uncle Tom's Cabin they must be bad off. I felt rather inclined to send him the Master of Red Leaf; but still more inclined to cut the acquaintance of his church. But then where shall I go? Oh for such a minister as Dr. Hawks! But "I ne'er shall see his like again." I am often reminded of the reply of my friend John Potts Brown, whom I met on coming to New York nearly fourteen years ago. While on my way to church one Sunday morning I fell in with him. "Going to church?" I asked. "No sir; I have not gone to church since they turned the churches into recruiting stations;" and I have been driven away from more than one church by flings at my country and its institutions. These people no doubt think that they are preaching the gospel, but it is not the gospel of peace, and good will, and love—of that charity which is kind, and thinketh no evil.

"Decoration Day," a legal holiday, in which I could do no business except to read and digest my mail, is necessarily a dies non to me. I have, therefore, employed the afternoon in seeking the grave of my old friend Gen. W. H. C. Whiting, who was wounded and captured at the battle of Fort Fisher, and brought here to die. It is no easy matter, especially for one whose bump of locality is but feebly developed, to find any particular lot in that labyrinth, Greenwood Cemetery, and this year it was made more difficult by my having been carried to a different entrance from the one to which I was accustomed. But getting directions at the office to start on Sycamore avenue, then turn successively into Central, Grove, Vine and Fir avenues, I could reach lot 17,265, section 167, in a walk of about a mile. So I sallied forth, and after making all sorts of turns through all sorts of beautiful regions in that great city of the dead, a stroll of nearly three hours brought me at last to Vine avenue, which I recognized as one through which I had always passed in my annual visits to the grave. This was the only one of the avenues to which I was directed that I found in my long walk; but when there it was easy to find the spot I was in search of. It was in precisely the same state as when I saw it last year, except that the flowering shrub of last year has increased in size and in the thousands of flowers which it bears, and that the white rose bush at the grave of the venerable lady buried in the same lot has also grown and is in full bloom. But it saddened me, as it always does, to see the grave of so distinguished and gallant an officer, who gave his life to his country, unmarked by any marble to tell what noble spirit reposes beneath. The flowering shrub completely obscures it, and no one can see that there is a grave there, except by stooping down and pressing the limbs aside. I placed my annual contribution in the earth at the head of the grave, and came away, to pass by the thousands of stones, great and small, that tell the world that others lived and died, whilst his grave is unmarked and unknown, except perhaps to two or three of us Southrons. It is true that the first time I ever saw it, a card attached to one of the twigs above it showed that it had been decorated by a lady of Brooklyn Heights. I have forgotten her name, but at no subsequent visit have I ever seen any sign of a further notice of it. But it is only to the living that a melancholy reflection arises at this; to him it is of no concern. H.

State University Commencement.

[Reported for THE RALEIGH NEWS.]

CHAPEL HILL, June 1, 1880.

TUESDAY.—Chapel Hill may be pronounced ready for its eighty-fifth annual fete. The whitewashing is all done, the sidewalks are all swept, the street-menders no longer go about town, and the voice of the tack-hammer has ceased. We are all redd up, as the Scotch say, and we don't care who knows it. This is Commencement Week.

All day phaetons and baggage wagons have been arriving, and O, the dust! All we need is a little rain. Does the editor of THE NEWS know anything more agreeable than to meet an "old student" whom you have not seen before in five, or ten, or twenty years, and be told that you "are looking as well as ever?" This is one of those lies, says Lady Mary Wortley Montague, which we are always glad to hear.

A college commencement is a young folks' frolic. The elders who attend are very welcome. They give dignity and reputation, and all that sort of thing; but they are expected to be as young as possible; to be jolly, to be lenient, to be complimentary, and to revive their own halcyon days with fervor and affection. This being understood it is good to go to commencement. Where else are such hearty handshakes, such beaming faces, such pleasant recollections, such joyful anticipations?

The Y. M. C. A., of the University, held its annual meeting this a. m. Rev. Frank Woolward gave an excellent discourse on the infidelities of the day, their influence and tendency, and the duty of Christians with regard to them. Mr. Woodward is a young man, with a young man's warmth of expression, and ardent feeling. He knows how to attract and hold the young. I have heard but one opinion of his sermon, that it was admirable, elaborately thought out, and well delivered.

To-night the Dis and Phis are in session, and afterwards there will be a hop in the University Library, which as usual has been beautifully decorated for the occasion. The College Chapel has been dressed up too with wreaths, and from its walls the portraits of Caldwell, Davie, Graham, Moore and Swain look down complacently on the gathering to do honor to the institution of their love. The motto for the occasion, in evergreen letters, is: "Sicut patribus Deus sit nobis." By the way, as to the word "hop." We commonly regard it as a bit of modern slang, but it appears in Boswell's Life of Johnson, applied just as nowadays, to a dancing party. It is therefore one hundred years old at least, and I think it likely people talked of hopping in the days of King Solomon. How often has that wise king been quoted as favoring saltatory exercises! "A time to—hop" said he, and all the hoppers of his day rejoiced when the first edition of his book of Ecclesiastes was issued from the royal press at Jerusalem. C. P. S.

Orange County News.

[Correspondence of THE RALEIGH NEWS.]

CHAPEL HILL, June 1, 1880.

EDITOR NEWS:—We are in the midst of a very important political campaign; in the midst, or, it is to be hoped, at the end of a most protracted and disagreeable spell of hot and dry weather; and in the midst of what promises to be a most successful and fortunate commencement.

Our township meeting selected delegates on Saturday to the county convention, and instructed them to vote for Jarvis, Carr, Cox, and Saunders. Manning is known to be the choice of the delegates for Judge.

The drought has been distressing—late planted corn and cotton does come up. Gardens want rain, oats are at a standstill, while a good wheat crop is being harvested, at a much earlier date than usual. Early corn and cotton are growing and doing very well, notwithstanding the dry weather.

Many visitors have already come to this year's closing exercises of the University. The marshals are expecting and providing for an unusually large crowd of ladies and other visitors. Wagons come in piled up with trunks.

Rev. F. C. Woodward, of Va. Conference, delivered the address before the Y. M. C. A. to-day. We have heard nothing but the most flattering criticisms on the effort of this gentleman. Mr. Woodward is quite a young man; indeed, he is almost a boy in appearance, but he bids fair to take a very high place among the great preachers. His address was highly appropriate, full of good thoughts, and delivered in a most effective manner.

Among the distinguished men visiting here, we notice, Dr. J. B. Killebrew, now geologist, I believe of Tennessee; Dr. Tucker, who is to deliver the sermon before the graduating class; Col. Tom Kenan; Hon. Paul Cameron, of course, (he is never absent on such occasions); Capt. Jas. A. Graham; Maj's. Wm. B. Lynch and Robt. Bingham, with all the assistant professors of the Bingham School; Rev. D. A. Long, Col. P. B. Means, Dr. Eugene Grissom, Gen. J. M. Leach, Col. A. T. Davidson, Capt. F. C. Robbins, Col. W. L. Saunders, and many others, whose names escape me.

To-night a good rain seems imminent. It is most ardently wished for, indeed it is necessary to comfort to morrow, as the streets are very dusty. X.

Alamance Items.

[Correspondence of THE RALEIGH NEWS.]

MEBANEVILLE, June 2, 1880.

EDITOR NEWS:—I have been asked repeatedly in which county Mebaneville is. The postoffice and depot are in Alamance county and within a few hundred yards of the Orange line. Bingham School is in Orange county. The county line is within a few feet of the church, which is in Orange county. Mebaneville is the shipping point for a large section of country on both sides of the railroad and both counties. It extends north as far as twenty miles or more, and south twelve or fifteen. The tobacco growing section runs within two or three miles on the north. The present prospects of Mebaneville are inducing many farmers to attempt tobacco raising. It is very probable that a warehouse will be built here this summer or fall.

Bingham School closed its session on last Saturday. The barracks now present a very quiet appearance after the most prosperous session in the history of this widely-celebrated school. Four new rooms were added this past session. The Y. M. C. A. building is nearly completed. The workmen have begun to raise the academy building in order to add another story under the present building. The present prospects indicate that there will be nearly, if not altogether, two hundred students here next session. Major Bingham has secured the assistance of another teacher for next session, and also one to take the place of Prof. R. B. Willis, who withdraws from the school to prosecute his theological studies. There will be four assistant professors next session instead of three as before.

We now have indications of rain, which is very much needed.

Many have gone to Chapel Hill commencement. The Rev. W. F. Tillett is now here on a visit to his sister, Mrs. T. J. Allison, and has preached for us two very interesting and able sermons. He is a young man of more than usual promise, and it is the judgment of many that he he will become one of the first men in his church. He has recently completed his theological course at Princeton Seminary. With another member of his class he obtained the two prizes offered by different parties to the writers of the best critical essays upon some portion of scripture. Scribner & Co. gave one of the prizes. The Rev. John Tillett came on Monday and will preach next Sabbath. LOCKE.

Guilford County Notes.

[Correspondence of THE RALEIGH NEWS.]

GREENSBORO, N. C., June 1, 1880.

MR. EDITOR:—Yesterday about 7 a. m., the dead body of Mr. H. O. Schoolfield was found in his room (after the door was forced open,) in the house of his nephew, Prof. Humphreys, aged about 70. A post mortem examination proved nothing and the jury decided he died from natural causes. Many years ago he was one of the most prominent men of Lynchburg, Virginia, where he did a large mercantile business, and held offices of trust and responsibility in the city, as well as being prominent in his church, (Methodist) in which I am told he was active and zealous. He had amassed quite a fortune, estimated by knowing ones at two hundred thousand dollars, in stocks, bonds, cash and real estate in Chicago, New York, &c. Prof. Humphreys and family accompanied the remains to Lynchburg, for interment. Mr. Schoolfield was never married.

I have not heretofore referred to the Daily Patriot of this city, which, under the local management of that little man, Mr. Pell, is quite newsy and spicy, and is gaining in favor daily. Mr. Fulghum and his associates have so much changed the face of the Patriot, weekly and daily, that the people hardly know how to account for it, it is so different to what it used to be.

The Good Templars of the city have initiated fourteen persons during the month of May, and they have an excursion to Danville on the 11th inst., (Friday), at the greatly reduced fare of one dollar and return from here.

What they think on Cape Fear.

[Correspondence of THE RALEIGH NEWS.]

WILMINGTON, JUNE 1, 1880.

EDITOR NEWS:—Delegates are pouring in from all the counties of this Congressional district, save Moore and two or three more of the upper counties, on their way to the Democratic Convention at Fayetteville. If coming events cast their shadows before them Charles M. Stedman will be triumphantly nominated for Congress.

It is cheering to see such a large number of the large delegations declaring for Jarvis for Governor. Those who say that the Governor is not strong in this Congressional district are greatly deceived, as will appear at the State Convention. As certain as the sun rises and sets on the 17th June he will be nominated by a very large majority.

His letter of a day or two ago has produced a very strong impression on the public mind. Seldom has there existed in North Carolina a deeper and more stirring sympathy for one of her patriotic sons and wounded Confederate soldiers than now exists and is spreading all over the State. The attacks of his enemies are regarded as persecutions of the man, and are reacting powerfully for Jarvis. The people are aroused from the conviction that great wrong and injustice has been done him, and that opponents have overreached the bounds of discretion in their onslaughts upon as good a Governor as we have ever had in North Carolina and as true and noble a man. It is clear that his brave sacrifices and services to the Confederate cause that disabled him, and his patriotic labors since, have embarrassed him financially, and these merits instead of furnishing weapons for attacking him are crowns of honor and patriotism in his behalf. Superintendent of Public Instruction.

[Correspondence of THE RALEIGH NEWS.]

ROBESON CO., May 24, 1880.

EDITOR NEWS:—A good deal is being said in the newspapers as to the necessary qualification for an efficient Superintendent of Public Instruction for North Carolina. With your permission I propose to give the views of a plain man in a few plain words—what he should be and what he should not be. Of course, he should be a man of good education, good-natural ability, and of unsullied reputation, commanding the respect of all, rich and poor, high and low, educated and ignorant.

Judge Archibald Henderson, one of the ablest among the many able jurists who have adorned the bench of North Carolina, in enumerating the qualifications requisite for a good judge, said that "legal learning was generally placed at the head of these qualifications, but that he was of opinion that good common sense and discretion of mind were the first qualifications; an intimate acquaintance with mankind, and particularly with the middle and lower classes of the people, their passions, feelings, prejudices, modes of thinking, and motives of action, was the second." Just such a man should the Superintendent of Public Instruction be—a man from and of the people, "who knows how it is himself," who is looking to the public schools in his neighborhood for at least the rudiments of education for his own children. If in addition to this, always supposing him to be a man of energy, talent, and education, he happens to have been officially connected with the public school system of the State in every possible position, except that of State Superintendent, thoroughly acquainted with the wants of the people and the good and bad points of the present school law, is it not likely that he could do more good in the office than men of much more ability and eloquence, who are personally interested only in the education to be obtained at high schools and colleges, whose ideas of what a system of public schools ought to be, but never can be for this generation of North Carolinians, are drawn from the wealthy and populous States of the North?

In conclusion, I beg to mention the name of Dr. J. A. McLean, of Guilford county, as a suitable man for the position. FARMER.

SOUTHERN CHICAGO DELEGATES.

WHAT THE YANKEES THINK AT SIGHT OF THE PEOPLE WHOM THEY LOVE AFAR OFF.

[From the New York Times, 1st.]

The careful and comprehensive canvass of the State delegations to the National Convention made by our correspondents at Chicago does not materially change the figures given in the Times's table of last Wednesday. It brings, however, into strong relief the utter untrustworthiness of a large proportion of the Southern delegates, and shows that in some cases where the solid vote of a State was counted on for Grant there is danger of defections. On the other hand, there are several Southern delegates assumed to be for Blaine or Sherman who are now expected to vote on the first ballot for Grant, and in the North-west the canvass of the delegates reveals more Grant strength than was given in the Times. The general impression left by a study of this canvass will be that the liability of Southern Republicans to yield to corrupt influences counts for a good deal more in reckoning the chances of the various candidates than is good for the character either of the Convention or of the party. Mr. Sherman's Treasury agents have found pupils only too apt in learning to regard a National Convention as a Presidential auction mart.

The Colored Chicago Delegates.

[From the New York Herald, 1st.]

It is something novel and rather refreshing to see coal black negroes in hotel parlors smoking, drinking and swinging canes. They are here en masse, and drive about the streets in open carriages "happy as the day is long." Senator J. Pennoyer Jones, of Arkansas, is one of these happy individuals, and in expressing his views on the condition of the Arkansas delegates he said:—"It is a matter of a great deal of doubt in my mind what their preferences are. It is understood they are for Grant," but of course, said he, significantly, "some of them have personal preferences. The State Convention has instructed them to vote for General Grant as long as he is in the field."

"Who would be their second choice?"

"The majority, I think, would select Blaine. For my own part," said the Senator, "I would like to see Hamilton Fish chosen, in the event of Grant not being the man. I think he would carry the Republican party through all right."

"And what is the delegation's view of the unit rule?"

"All generally favor it. Personally I am opposed to it, though I believe the State conventions have the power to instruct the delegations, and those instructions should be obeyed."

"How do you all look upon the Illinois troubles?"

"The delegations will go into the Convention and vote whichever way appears to be for the best interest of the party."

"Any chance of Grant carrying Arkansas?"

"No, sir; nor any man in the Republican party."

"Do you think that Grant would have more weight with Arkansas Republicans than would any other member of the party?"

"I will answer you in this way," replied the happy Senator. "Nineteen-twentieths of the negro population south of Mason and Dixon's line—not the intelligent negroes, but the rank and file—have never known but two public men, the dead Lincoln and the living Grant. If Grant were nominated they would take chances which they would take for no other man. They would take upon themselves the responsibility of going to the polls to vote for him. Yet it may be true that we would not get the electoral vote even for Grant. The colored people believe that Grant could award them the most protection."

"I suppose you have spoken with a good many colored delegates since you arrived," the reporter said; "what seems to be their opinion of the situation?"

"I've spoken to a great many," returned the happy little Senator, "and I find opinions very much divided between Grant, Blaine, and Sherman, and I am glad of it. It is a good sign. It indicates that we can afford to have an opinion of our own. It is a sign of progress. It is a very hopeful sign for our race."

WAIFS:

It is true, George Washington never told a lie, but then he hadn't the strongly organized opposition to his candidature for the Presidency that troubles his successors. In these degenerate and ununanimous days the candidate has to lie like a pirate to straighten up his record, and then he has to lie like smoke to keep it straight.

Thirty-six years ago a Connecticut deacon violently objected because it was proposed that a violin should be used in his church. Twenty-three years ago he said that no one but the devil could have suggested a melodeon. Nine years ago he said that he would never go to that church again if the contralto and the tenor singers were paid $100 apiece by the year. Last week he was in New York inquiring for a boy who could pump an organ while his daughter, fresh from school, played a hymn to the tune, "When Johnny comes marching home."

"My friend," began a serious individual who called in at a cotton dealer's the other day, "will you give me a few moments to talk about your future"—"Futures!" no, blast your futures, I'm stuck $3,000 with the blanked things. I'm doing nothing but a spot business now, and blanked little of that. There's Charley S. up stairs, he'll talk 'futures' with you from July to eternity—good morning"—and the cotton man rushed out, leaving the good clergyman, who was inexperienced in the slang of the trade, speechless with astonishment, and he saved up his remarks for the future for a future opportunity.

A NEW YANKEE DODGE.

PRAYER TO PENSION A PRAY-ER.

[From the New York Herald, 1st.]

One more war claim has been heard from: it is that of a Wisconsin man who went into the army and prayed steadily, for about eight months, that the Union might be saved. As from this time the war cloud began to pass away the claimant takes credit to his prayers and proposes to take cash from the Government. In such a case the duty of the national authorities is to ascertain what was the average market value of prayers for the Union at the time specified. From such records as are at hand we cannot discover that any money whatever was paid for prayers, perhaps because some millions of excellent ones were daily supplied without any claim for compensation; no force short of Omnipotence could have classified and disposed of the daily gratuitous issue. This being the case the Wisconsin claimant should state in what respect his prayers were more sensible or more likely to attract attention than those of the numerous other petitioners; then he should summon witnesses to prove what effect his special efforts produced. If he fails in this last named particular, as he is sure to do, his course should be to apply for compensation to the Power that had sufficient control over the war to end the fighting when properly requested to do so; for any one who can cause two great armies to lay down their arms at the petition of a single individual can, without effort, accomplish the thousandfold easier task of supplying a few flimsy greenbacks or golden eagles. The petitioner would do better to apply, first of all, to Heaven for remuneration, for there is nobody in authority at Washington who would give a cent for all the political prayers ever uttered.

The following head-lines, displayed with the lurid typographic art that only a Western paper is capable of, preceded the account of the Illinois Republican Convention in the Fargo (Dak.) Argus: "Ho! his comrades, see the signal, waving in the sky—votes enough sure in convention—how is that for high! Tho' the frightful tempest rageth, cities laying low—tho' a powder mill explodeth, dealing death and woe. Notwithstanding Indian outbreaks fill the coast with fears, we'll take the N. P. and their scalps raise in the next six years. Hold the fort for he is coming, waver, stalwarts shan't—send the war-cry up to heaven, "No duffer shall wax Grant."

It looks a little singular to see farmers coming to town and paying a dollar for a hundred pounds of grass, and then going back home to pay hands fifty cents a day for killing grass.

REDUCED FARES FOR DELEGATES TO THE STATE CONVENTION.—The following reduced rates for delegates to the Democratic State Convention have been agreed to by the companies mentioned:

The Western North Carolina Railroad Company; the Raleigh & Gaston Railroad Company; the Raleigh and Augusta Air Line Railroad Company; the Seaboard and Roanoke Railroad Company; the Spartanburg and Asheville Railroad Company; the Wilmington and Weldon Railroad Company, and the Wilmington, Columbia and Augusta Railroad Company will charge three cents a mile each way.

The Carolina Central Railroad Company 2½ cents a mile each way, and $7.85 from Charlotte.

The Atlantic, Tennessee and Ohio Railroad Company 6¼ cents a mile one way for the round trip.

The steamboat companies on the Cape Fear, half rates.

The Atlantic and Charlotte Air Line, one fare will return delegates free on printed certificate of attendance.

The Cape Fear and Yadkin Valley Railroad Company, one fare round trip.

The Atlantic and North Carolina Railroad Company, 6 cents a mile for the round trip.

The Richmond and Danville Railroad Company, 6 cents a mile for the round trip, and $9.60 from Charlotte. Tickets good over this line for five days. Certificate on back of ticket must be signed by the Secretary of the Convention. S. A. ASHE.

For Executive Committee.

THE RAIN.—Yesterday morning the backbone of the drought was broken. A light drizzle began at precisely 19 minutes after 9 o'clock, and at 21 minutes past that hour rain was falling heavily. The rain continued to fall heavily for about fifteen minutes and wet the thirsty earth to the depth of at least a quarter of an inch. As we write thick clouds are to be seen all around, and it only needs to be pouring down like —— in the middle to complete the Indian's sign of rain.

TOO MUCH JAW.—As our man Efe was sauntering by one of our Hotels this morning he was arrested by a windy fellow who was expatiating fluently on everything. Efe, after listening awhile, cast at the chap a look of contempt and turned off and muttered, "that feller's got enough jaw for another set of teeth, and he better go up to the Dentist Convention this morning and let 'em have a job."

JUSTICE'S COURT.—Jackson Austin and Isaac Moore were before Justice Barbee yesterday to answer the charge of embezzling things of value from Ruffin Roles. The Justice required these gentlemen to put up $50 each as an evidence of their willingness to attend the next term of Wake Superior Court, and they gave bond for that amount.

Proceedings of Dental Convention.

[Reported for THE RALEIGH NEWS.]

SECOND DAY.

WEDNESDAY, June 2, 1880.

The Association convened Wednesday, June 2d, at 9 o'clock, Dr. D. E. Everitt, President, in the chair. Drs. M. A. Bland and Isaiah Simpson reported and were admitted. The proceedings of yesterday's meeting read and approved.

The report of the committee on Dental Education was called for. Dr. J. D. Clark, of Newbern, read a very valuable and highly appreciated essay, which demonstrated the great and important need of a higher dental education. The subject was discussed by Drs. Turner, Griffith and Flemming. It was ordered that the essay of Dr. Clark be published.

The following resolution was read by Dr. J. F. Griffith:

WHEREAS, It is usual for bodies of importance to publish their proceedings, and whereas, by this means our records can be better kept and our archives the better preserved.

Resolved, 1*st*, That hereafter the proceedings of our annual sessions be published in pamphlet form to the number of five hundred, one for each member, and others for distribution and exchange, &c.

Resolved, 2*d*, That a committee of three be appointed annually, and the amount expended not to exceed fifty dollars.

A committee consisting of Drs. J. H. Crawford, Isaiah Simpson and J. D. Clark were appointed, whose duty it is to prepare for publication the proceedings of the association for distribution.

The committee on Physiology made their report through their chairman, Dr. Turner, who read a valuable paper prepared by Dr. B H. Garrett. Also an interesting paper prepared by himself on the same subject, which was received and adopted. Discussed by Drs. Flemming, Carr, Turner, Griffith and Crawford.

On motion, Dr. H. B. Rice, of the South Carolina Dental Association, was admitted and invited to participate in the discussions.

The committee on Operative Dentistry reported through their chairman, Dr. M. A. Bland. They submitted a valuable paper on this subject. Discussed by Drs. Turner, Griffith, Flemming, Simpson, Bland and Carr. The discussion was suspended.

The committee, J. W. Hunter, V. E. Turner and F. S. Harris, who were appointed to prepare a paper on the care of children's teeth, read two very valuable papers on that subject.

The Association then adjourned to 3½ p. m.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The Association convened at 3½ p. m., President Everitt in the chair.

The discussion of operative dentistry was resumed. Subject passed.

Thr subject of Dental Pathology and Therapeutics was called. The committee being absent, the subject was passed.

Dental Chemistry being called, the committee being absent, the subject was passed.

On motion, a clinic was ordered to be held at Dr. Everitt's office by Dr. Hoffmann.

The Association then adjourned until this (Thursday) morning at 9 o'clock.

RALEIGH FEMALE SEMINARY.—The commencement exercises of the Raleigh Female Seminary took place last night. The ceremonies were opened with prayer by the Rev. Dr. Skinner. Disbelli's Sonata in D was then finely rendered by Misses Holley and Parham. The Diplomas were then conferred upon the graduates, to each of whom a bible was presented. The presentation speech was made by Prof. Royall. The next feature of the entertainment was the Overture to Semiramide, by the Music Teachers.

The annual address was then delivered by Prof. C. E. Taylor of Wake Forest College. His subject, the type of Christian womanhood demanded by the times, was done full justice to. It was a fine production and will add to Prof. Taylor's already high reputation as a scholar, thinker, and orator.

After the address Rossini's magnificent recitative and aria was rendered by Miss Hunter in a manner which brought out all the latent possibilities of the grand music. The benediction was then pronounced by Rev. W. R. Gwaltney, and the large audience dispersed, well pleased with the evening's entertainment.

The Art Exhibition was very good. Most of the pupils are very young at the work but give promise of great excellency. Of the sixty crayon drawings with which the walls of the chapel were hung we note the following as especially deserving notice: "Calla Lily" and "Return from the Chase," drawn by Miss Anna Walker: "The Unbidden Guest" and Scene on the Catawba by Miss Alice Page; "Birds" and "Fruit" by Miss Lizzie Marsh; a dog and bird piece by Miss Fannie Heck; Miss Lizzie Dowd exhibited a drawing of the Delaware Water Gap which was very fine and Miss Mary Strickland's picture of a Lesson in Love was full of promise; Miss Olivia Holland's work was represented by a pair of landscapes; Miss Lavinia Blackwell's by a drawing of a dog's head, and Miss Maggie Nutt by a snow scene which while not so pretty as some of the other pictures showed more promise of future excellence than any there.

A new feature of the exhibition and a new feature in any school in this State was the exhibition of wood carvings, the work of Misses Fannie Heck and Pattie Holley. These carvings were very well done and attracted great attention. The chapel will be open for the exhibition of pictures this evening from 4 o'clock to 6, and the grand concert will be given to-night at 8:30.

We publish to-day the advertisement of the New York Sun. For the benefit of our exchanges we say that we do so at our regular rates.

THE RALEIGH ACADEMY OF MEDICINE.—The following resolutions of respect to the late Dr. F. J. Haywood have been adopted by the above named organization:

WHEREAS, In the Providence of Almighty God our late fellow member, Dr. Fabius J. Haywood, has been removed from us; therefore, be it

Resolved, That in the death of Dr. Haywood this Academy has been deprived of its oldest and one of its most honored members, one who had been a most successful practitioner of medicine in this community for fifty years; a physician proverbially beloved by his patients and respected by all who knew him.

Resolved, That the profession of this State has lost one of its most honored and successful members.

Resolved, That the city and State have lost an honored and useful citizen, one who was held in high esteem by all classes of our citizens.

Resolved, That we tender our sincere sympathy to his bereaved family in their sad affliction.

Resolved, That all the Fellows of this Academy, as a mark of our esteem and respect for our deceased brother, wear the usual badge of mourning for thirty days.

Resolved, That these resolutions be published in our daily city papers and in the North Carolina Medical Journal.

Resolved, That the Secretary forward a copy of the resolutions to the family of the deceased.

NORTH CAROLINA INDUSTRIAL ASSOCIATION.—The second annual fair of this body will be held this year beginning on the 27th day of September and continuing throughout the week. We are glad to learn, as we do from the general manager of the Association, that the prospects are very good and that the next fair will be on a much larger scale than was the first which was itself a great success. B. J. Edwards, Jr., the general manager, has been traveling extensively throughout the State in the interest of the Association. He says that the prospect everywhere is very good. The colored people are all deeply interested in the success of this their peculiar fair, and making every preparation to assist in its development. He will go to the Western part of the State in a few days in the interest of the Association, and we hope will succeed in arousing as much interest in the Association there as is felt in the East. We regard the Industrial Association as an important factor in the development of the colored people and wish it all success.

WHAT WAKE THINKS:—

Apex, June 2, 1880.—We are much pleased with the sentiment of your editorials. It would be well for us, could all our editors imbibe the same spirit. While Fowle is our choice for Governor, for reasons of availability, we would hurl back into his face the attempts of any man to stigmatize Jarvis. O.

What North Carolinians are Doing.

GLEANINGS FROM STATE EXCHANGES.

The Record notes the death in Newbern of Mr. Elijah W. Ellis, aged 77 years, one of the oldest and most respected citizens of the town.

Seven white and seven colored couples make up Robeson county's record in the matrimonial doings for May, as reported in the Robesonian.

Dr. Hay gave the Winston Leader a bunch of rye, on Friday last, which he found growing in a wheat field near this place, which measured six feet in height, and forty-six stalks were produced from one grain, yielding 2,300 grains.

Forsyth's wheat crop, the Leader says, is looking well. The color, for the most part, is fresh, vigorous and rich, and gives evegy indication of a fine yield. The coming harvest, if nothing unforeseen happens, will be of great advantage to the country and add very much to its prosperity.

The Warsaw Brief Mention says that in Duplin "potato sprouts are dying on the beds from excessive dry weather. Fires in the woods have been burning furiously and doing considerable damage. The cotton, rice and corn crops are generally in good condition and looking well where planted in time and properly worked. Considerable quantities of cotton planted too late have not come up."

STATE POLITICAL ITEMS:—

The Wilmington Star very sensibly says: "The strongest man should be nominated. If Governor Jarvis is that man, then he is the man to lead the hosts. If Judge Fowle is the strongest, then nominate him. If General Alfred M. Scales is the strongest, then wisdom, policy, judgment must say nominate him. Or if any other man, whether it be General Robert Vance, or Hon. George Davis, or Judge Eure, or Major William M. Robbins, or Colonel R. T. Bennett, or any other good, sound Democrat, then nominate him. The game is to win, not to reward favorites."

Of Randolph politics, the Ashborough Courier says: "This county is unanimously solid for the renomination of Dr. J. M. Worth, and for the nomination of Gilmer for Judge. As to the other candidates there is not unanimity. The sentiment of the county is divided. Jarvis is the strongest for Governor. Scales and Fowle also have some friends in this county who would like to vote for them for Governor. It is not probable that our delegates will be instructed. For the Senate from this district (Moore and Randolph) we have heard the following suggestions: M. S. Robins, J. T Crocker, A. S. Horney, D. Curtis, Dr. Fox, Dr. Winslow, Col. McAlister, W. P. Wood, R. W. Frazier and N. C. English. Certainly, out of so many good men, we cannot fail to make a good choice."

A correspondent of the Alamance Gleaner and the Gleaner itself present Col. Thos. M. Holt, "a gentleman of fine sense, honest and in every way capable, from the people and one of the people," as Alamance's candidate for Lieutenant Governor. The Gleaner says that "although it has been contrary to the policy of the Gleaner, as it now is, to advocate the claims of any one whose name may be brought before the public for any office in the gift of the people, before he shall have been nominated as the candidate of the party, yet we think that there are occasions when a deviation from the rule is entirely proper; and we think further, that such an occasion has arrived when the name of Col. Thos. M. Holt is brought before the people as a candidate for the office of Lieutenant Governor. Thos. M. Holt is a man who is in every way competent and capable of filling the high office with which his name is mentioned, and his record as a public man is unimpeachable. It will be a pleasure and pride to the Democrats of Alamance to bring his name before the convention, and it will be the honest endeavor of the Gleaner to support the claims of our worthy fellow-citizen."

GENERAL NEWS ITEMS:—

Mrs. Christiancy gets $150 a month for what she has done, and her counsel get $300 for saying she did nothing she ought not to have done.

Nearly all the counties in Illinois that have chosen delegates to the State Convention have instructed in favor of Hon. Wm. R. Morrison for President.

Senator Lamar has received a dispatch from reliable parties who assure him that the vote of the Mississippi delegation will be cast for Senator Bayard.

There were coined at the Philadelphia Mint during May coins to the value of $3,376,900. Of this sum there was in gold $2,242,800; in silver, $1,100,000, and in base coin, $34,100.

In February last, refined bar iron sold at $89.60 per ton at Philadelphia, and the puddlers made high wages. On the 15th instant the price of the same iron at Philadelphia had fallen to $56 per ton.

American manufacturers, as the latest report of the Iron and Steel Association shows, can produce more iron of all kinds than this country has ever consumed. The producing capacity of the furnaces is 6,500,000 tons per year, while the total consumption in 1879 was only 3,070,875 tons of domestic make, and about 440,000 tons of imported iron of all kinds.

Mrs. Lena Brock, of New York, has sued James Elverson, of Newark, for an alleged breach of promise of marriage. She says that she made him many valuable gifts, including money and her wedding ring, after they became engaged, but that he deserted her for a Yonkers widow. Mrs. Brock is sixty-five years of age, and has children and grandchildren. Elverson is about thirty-five years old.

On Tuesday last, ten miles from the Newberry (S. C.) line, Thomas M. Blease was shot and instantly killed by Gardner, his son-in-law. Bad feeling existed between the men on account of Gardner's marriage with Blease's daughter, and Blease had made charges against Gardner of a delicate nature, and threatening to kill him had sought him for that purpose. Gardner being apprised of his father-in-law's intention, killed him upon meeting him.

The Russian Empress is now so feeble that the utmost her physicians look forwrd to is that she may live until the Autumn. At the beginning of Lent she was a little stronger and wished to receive the holy communion. She was carried in an easy chair to the chapel, but it was with great difficulty that she went through the rites requiring her to stand or kneel, and she fainted three times during the ceremony. She was taken back to her room in a prostrate condition, and her life was for some time despaired of.

A leading Democratic politician just returned from Chicago to Washington says that the fight there is of extraordinary bitterness. In all his experience he never saw similar excitement. The feeling is more intense than it was at Charleston in 1860, when the Democratic party split. The expenditure of money for attractive headquarters, bands of music, the manipulation of delegates, &c., is something enormous. The city is upside down with excitement. He thinks the nomination of either Grant or Blaine is unlikely, and considers Sherman's chances excellent.

The Kansas Freedman's Relief Association has just published its second semi-annual report. In the period between October 13, 1879, and March 31, 1880, says the report, fully 20,000 negro immigrants arrived a Topeka from the Southern States and were cared for by the Association. There are no signs of an abatement in this remarkable movement. The refugees are still coming, and the good cause of aiding them to establish themselves upon the land still calls for money, materials and work. A favorable report is made by the Association as to the character of the immigrants, who are described as peaceable, law-abiding citizens, intent on becoming independent of charitable support.

As if the iron manufacture were not in trouble enough already, the puddlers at Pittsburg have resolved to strike for higher wages, thereby throwing more than 50,000 men out of employment in that district alone. The mischief will inevitably extend to other districts, whether the strike does or not, and this great industry, which seemed to be on the point of recovering its command in the home market by wise reduction in prices and in the cost of production, is threatened with disorganization for an indefinite time. The association of puddlers is strong enough to make a prolonged and stubborn resistance, and may possibly involve kindred associations elsewhere in similar conflicts.

On Tuesday a terrible tragedy occurred near Clear Lake, Collins county, Texas. A farmer named Bradley left two hundred dollars, received for cattle, with his wife for safe keeping. A stranger, asking to stay all nigh', was given a pallet in the gallery. At midnight he saw two men, who he supposed belonged to the family, enter, and hearing cries of murder he peered through the blinds and saw a woman on the bed with her throat cut. Snatching a six-shooter the stranger sprang towards the door and fired, killing both parties. Mounting a horse he rode to the nearest neighborhood, and, accompanied by a party of four, returned. Mrs. Bradley and both the robbers were dead, one of whom was shot through the heart, the other through the head. The robbers proved to be Mrs. Pruett and her daughter, the former sixty years old and the owner of considerable property, and having an independent inheritance of $17,000.

A Boy, a Woman, and a Cow.

[From the Detroit Free Press]

It is now over one hundred years since an American philosopher propounded the query: "Why is a woman afraid of a cow?" and yet no one has ever succeeded in giving a satisfactory answer. There is once in a while a woman who doesn't seem to have the slightest fear, even when passing a cow with one horn all twisted out of shape; but follow that woman home and you will find that she kicks the dog, cuffs the children, jaws her husband and knows how to sharpen a butcher-knife and use an axe. The real woman has a mortal terror of cows, and the real cow seems to have an antipathy for her.

Friday forenoon a lady was walking down Cass avenue when she suddenly came upon a cow. The animal was feeding on the other side of the street and the boy sent out to watch her sat under a shade tree and played on a mouth-organ.

The lady halted.

The cow looked up.

"Lost anything, ma'am?" asked the boy as he removed the music from his mouth.

"I—I'm afraid of that cow!" she replied.

"What fur? Cows don't bite nor kick, same as a horse. All they kin do is to run their horns through you and pin you to the ground."

"Oh! my—she's coming!"

"No, she hain't. She's jus' making believe that she wants to get at ye and hook ye over the fence."

"Oh, but I dare not pass!"

"Yes, you dare. Cows know when a woman is afraid just as quick as anybody. The minit you give cows to understand that you are able to catch 'em by the heels and mop the ground with 'em they go to hunting fur clover."

"Dear me, but I guess I'll go back!"

"I wouldn't. If ye'll only spit on yer hands and shake yer fist at her she'll wilt right down. Cows know who's boss just as well as men do. Now, then, I'll hold yer parasol while you spit on yer hands."

"Oh! I can't—I'm going right home!"

"Well, my little brother he swears at 'em instead of spitting on his hands. See if you can do that."

"No—no—no! I'm going now."

"If I was a woman and I couldn't swear or spit on my hands, I should carry a sword-cane to stab cows with," observed the boy as he looked across the way.

"My soul! but there's another cow up there!" exclaimed the lady as she looked up the street

"Yes, lots of cows around these days, but I never heard of two cows attacking a woman at once. I guess one generally hooks 'em all to pieces first, and then the other comes up and paws at the mangled remains. If you——"

The lady uttered a first class scream and made a jump for the nearest gate. It opened hard, and after one pull she went over the fence and up the front steps of a strange house, there to remain until her husband could be summoned by telephone to come and act as a body-guard.

"I'd just like to be a woman," mused the boy as he sat down to punish his mouth-organ some more. I'd carry a bowie-knife down the back of my neck, and the first cow that tried to hook me would feel that ere knife playing mumblety peg around her vicious heart-strings."

WAIFS:—

Mr. O'Malley was discussing the Irish question yesterday with one of our most prominent English residents. The latter expressed grave doubts about the severity of the suffering in Ireland, to which O'Malley replied:

"I give yez me word of honor as a gintleman that there are people in soom parts of the ould counthry who, to me own certain knowledge, have not had enough to ate for four cinturies."

"Dear me, hi had no hidea it was arf that bad, ye know," responded the bloated Saxon.

The Irish make some useful bulls. A Mallow correspondent of the Cork Examiner states that a short time since a ship sailed for Australia, taking several young short horn bulls and a ten-months-old calf, worth 200 guineas. This animal, the correspondent goes on to state, is a very superior one, "and comes from the ladylike branch of the celebrated Mantilini tribe" (sic.) He then concludes his paragraph in this astonishing manner: "For the last twenty years bulls have been hired from Mr. Booth, of Wanlaby, for use in this herd. The one at present in use, Royal Mowbray, dam Riley Lassie, is allowed to be the best milker in Wanlaby."

Two Opinions.

TWENTY-ONE.

Far from the crush and the crowd of the dancing,
Far from the quarrel for supper-room chairs,
Soft come the strains of the music entrancing—
Isn't it charming out here on the stairs?
Bright dewy eyes and a word softly spoken,
No matron notices, nobody cares;
Rosebud or ribbon is begged as a token—
Oh, its delightful out here on the stairs.

FIFTY-FIVE.

How the door slams, it is really provoking!
Piercing and bleak are the cold winter airs,
Soon those poor fools will be coughing and choking—
It must be dreadful out there on the stairs.
There breeds pneumonia, colds and bronchitis—
See how the chandelier flickers and flares—
Fever and chills and the dread meningitis—
Oh, it is dreadful out there on the stairs.

SCHOOLS.

ST. MARY'S SCHOOL.

FOUNDED 1842.

REV. B. SMEDES, A. M., Principal.

MRS. C. DeR. MEARES, Lady Principal.

This well known school was never so completely furnished in its various departments as at present. A full corps of able and experienced teachers is engaged—resident French and German ladies—musical department, both vocal and instrumental, unsurpassed. In every respect the Principal feels justified in recommending it to the patronage of parents desiring for their daughters advantages equal to any in this country, for thorough education, for refining surroundings and for careful moral and religious training.

Terms for Board and Tuition, per term of twenty weeks, $125. For day scholars from $15 to $30. The only extra charges are for Music, Art and Languages. Special students, whether boarders or otherwise, received in either of these branches.

TUTT'S PILLS

SYMPTOMS OF A TORPID LIVER.

Loss of Appetite, Bowels Costive, Pain in the Head, with a dull sensation in the back part, Pain under the shoulder-blade, Fullness after eating, with a disinclination to exertion of body or mind, Irritability of temper, Low Spirits, with a feeling of having neglected some duty, Weariness, Dizziness, Fluttering at the Heart, Dots before the eyes, Yellow Skin, Headache generally over the right eye, Restlessness, with fitful dreams, highly colored Urine.

IF THESE WARNINGS ARE UNHEEDED, SERIOUS DISEASES WILL SOON BE DEVELOPED.

TUTT'S PILLS are especially adapted to such cases, one dose effects such a change of feeling as to astonish the sufferer.

CONSTIPATION.

Only with regularity of the bowels can perfect health be enjoyed. If the constipation is of recent date, a single dose of TUTT'S PILLS will suffice, but if it has become habitual, one pill should be taken every night, gradually lessening the frequency of the dose until a regular daily movement is obtained, which will soon follow.

Dr. I. Guy Lewis, Lytton, Ark., says:

"After a practice of 25 years, I pronounce TUTT'S PILLS the best anti-bilious medicine ever made."

Rev. F. R. Ogden, New York, says:

"I have had Dyspepsia, Weak Stomach and Nervousness. I never had any medicine to do me so much good as TUTT'S PILLS. They are as good as represented."
